

The Carson Daily Appeal

CARSON CITY:
Saturday, November 29, 1873.

THANKSGIVING BALL.—The dance given Thursday night for the benefit of the Catholic Church was a success in every respect. Moore & Parker's large hall was crowded. No merely local gathering of people in Carson was ever so great. It reminded one almost of the Citizens' and Legislative balls of last Winter. The assemblage was essentially democratic—not politically speaking by any means, although our friends of the opposite party were not without their representatives there, but socially. All went; the leaders of the town, as well as a host of those to whom that little foreign word has a heavy sound. The music was first-rate; and the dancing was enjoyed very much in spite of the wind howling outside like seven devils. The supper was also first-rate—so they said who got any; but no calculation had been made for the unexpected multitude and some of the later visitors to the festive board confined their repast to coffee. There was no reason to regret this involuntary abstinence, however, as the day's big dinner had been very generous. Towards four in the morning the dancing stopped, and those who had not gone before, went away then, straggling home tired to death, feeling like damp dish cloths.

In the midst of conflicting rumors of war and Spanish butcheries, here comes an episode. It was in Carson, on Thanksgiving Day, in a barber shop. They are not Americans that became belligerent on that day in our town which we happily thought had ceased producing men for the morning meal. Nor were there two belligerents. How then a battle? There was no battle. One was in fun. The other wasn't. That made the thing one-sided—which it might not have been, otherwise, for there is no telling how much mischief wasn't called into play. There was no funeral. There was hardly a scratch. There was dodging—and thumping on that part of the head which looks upward when the face is earthward. As it was all about a said-to-be dirty towel, we desist.

A PAINFUL MISTAKE evidently occurred recently in the transmission of a dispatch to a gentleman resident here, an intimate friend of Judge Darrow lately deceased. The dispatch as received was to the effect that Judge Darrow could not leave until the next day. The recipient of the dispatch, not knowing of the illness of the Judge, and thinking he was about to visit this place and had previously transmitted some intelligence in relation thereto, which had not come to hand, was shocked by the unexpected and painful intelligence received yesterday of the death of his friend. It is now thought that "cannot leave" was by mistake substituted for "cannot live" as the dispatch was evidently intended to read.

IN STOLEN DRESS.—Our police officers have arrested an Italian who claims to hail from a camp in the mountains, on evidence that would seem to indicate that he is the burglar who entered the rooms of Tom Carson and took therefrom the trunk and clothing, of which mention was made in the APPEAL some days since. The trunk, it will be recollected was found in Sweeney's field west of town. On Tuesday night last the Italian referred to in this item was in town wearing a pair of pantaloons that were stolen with other things from Mr. Carson. The case is being investigated by the authorities.

THEATRE.—Tellers' Vaudeville Troupe will give entertainments at the Carson Theater to-night, and on Monday evening next. This evening the entertainment will commence with the serio-comic drama entitled "Everybody's Enemy," to be followed by a grand vocal and terpsichorean olio; and conclude with a most laughable Barletta. The Troupe was at Reno last evening. They have recently been playing at Grass Valley, and the Union of that place says the Troupe is an excellent one—about the best that has visited Grass Valley for many a year. The indications are that they will have a full house.

DANCING. the newest styles, will be taught by Mr. J. F. Burns, in the new hall of the Corbett Brothers; the gentlemen's classes being on Monday and Tuesday evenings; ladies' and gentlemen's classes on Wednesday evenings; juvenile class on Saturday afternoons. A soiree will be given every Saturday evening. Professor Merzbach will see to it that the best of music is provided by a first class quadrille band. See advertisement of the above named gentleman in the APPEAL of this morning.

DICK MILLS, the industrious tinner and ingenious tinker, has greatly enlarged his working premises, and now has a large and handsome salesroom and business office. He is pressed with work, and we are glad to notice this evidence of his general prosperity. Dick is a meritorious Carson boy. He will soon display an immense sign, painted for him by Wilson, Gaige & Co., which will attract the attention—possibly from its size as to the gaze—of the passer-by.

THE DISTRICT COURT will be in session to-day. Estate matters and divorce business will probably occupy the attention of the Court.

IN THE POLICE COURT, yesterday, a man from the mountains was arraigned for making his bed in the public street. The disposition of the man to sleep on the highway was the result of imbibing too much bad whiskey. In August last the same person was fined for a like offense. For this second offence Justice Withers drew upon him at sight for $25. The draft was not honored, and the man went to jail.

THE SKATING RINK, at Moore & Parker's Hall, under the management of Harry Zimmerman, will be opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon and at 7 o'clock this evening. This Rink, properly conducted, as it will be, bids fair to prove one of the most exhilarating, healthy and popular places of amusement of the season.

AT THE ORPHANS' HOME Thanksgiving was observed, and the occasion made a delightful one to the children resident at that institution. In behalf of the orphan's Superintendent, Webb, desires mention made of the fact of the presentation of turkeys from J. D. Minor and A. N. Fisher, and of a supply of apples from J. H. Chandler.

REPORTED DEATH OF A FORMER FELLOW TOWNSMAN.—Some business messages directed from this place to Stephen C. Haydon at his last known residence in California failing to elicit a response, further inquiries bring the report of his sudden death from heart disease. Mr. Haydon was formerly a resident druggist of Carson City.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY will give an Anniversary Festival on Monday evening next, at their hall in the stone building north side of the Plaza. A deputation from the Caledonia Society of Virginia City will be present on the occasion. We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend.

JOHN DIESBACH, our former townsman, put in an appearance here, yesterday morning, from Eureka, and left, or was to leave, by last evening's train. He reports everything prosperous about the mines in the vicinity of Eureka, his present home.

MISS MAY HOWARD, California's favorite actress, is in Virginia City, where for a few nights she will appear at Piper's Opera House in her brilliant series of emotional plays and sparkling comedies. Manager Piper ought to favor Carson with her presence.

PERSONAL.—John Centennial Lewis, the veteran Editor of the Reno Crescent, has been walking over his old race-course and visiting his former stamping-ground here during the last two days. He was heartily greeted by all old Carsonites.

COMPLIMENTARY.—We have received a ticket of admission to the Ball of the Carson City Turn-Verein, to be held on Thursday, the 25th of Dec., 1873. The price of admission, including supper, has been fixed by the Society at $2 50.

THE PROPOSED CONCERT for last evening, at the Theater, we regret to state, was not a success. In fact the applications for admission were so few as not to warrant the appearance on the stage of the concertists.

SCREWDRIVER.—I acknowledge the compliment of a handsome screwdriver on Wednesday evening last by the Carson Brass Band, and on behalf of myself and wife return our sincere thanks. Hope you'll come again.

DIED.—In Alpine county, California, November 23, 1873, William P. Croson, a native of Williamson, Tennessee, aged 46 years.

Wm. Croson and Franklin papers please copy.

REMEMBRANCE FROM DEATH.—At about 8 o'clock this morning three men, including the foreman of the Silver Hill mine, in lower Gold Hill, met with a most miraculous escape from death.

They had barely stepped on the cage, at the top of the shaft, when they were precipitated with great rapidity to the water in the pump at the bottom, a distance of 330 feet. Notwithstanding the imminent peril in which the party were involved, Mr. Ford, the foreman, had sufficient presence of mind to throw up one side of the bonnet of the cage, thereby preventing the men from being buried under twelve hundred feet of wire cable, weighing at least a ton. His prompt action in the matter saved the lives of the entire party. The men, who were in the center compartment of the shaft, escaped drowning by crawling through into the pump compartment, from whence they were hoisted to the surface of the mine. Mr. Ford, while in the act of raising one section of the bonnet, sustained a severe bruise upon his forehead. One of the other men had the scalp on the top of his head cut open for a distance of some three inches. Dr. Hall sewed up the wound. The exact cause of the accident is not clearly understood, but is probably due to the reel getting loose somehow.—Gold Hill News of last evening.

The cars from Pioche to Bullionville are now making four trips a day, carrying passengers, freight and ore.

At the close of the sentence, which doomed him to twelve years' imprisonment, Tweed was fairly overcome as the fearful realization burst upon him, and the suppressed grief of the son was terrible. The condemned man was then led into an inner room, where the leaving-taking of friends on his part was mechanical, he not seeming to see any one. His son embraced and kissed him, and friends whispered to him, seemingly unheard.

OUR old time friend, Professor Howe, the capable and efficient Principal of the Carson City Public Schools, paid a visit to Professor James' Department of the Gold Hill Public Schools to-day.—Gold Hill News of last evening.
